

Marry de Gaay Fortman is a partner at Houthoff, one of the largest law firms in the Netherlands. She is an expert on corporate governance, and regularly lectures on boardroom dynamics. She sits on the supervisory boards of KLM and the Dutch Central Bank. Marry has worked with many international non-profit organisations and is the chair of Stichting Topvrouwen, a foundation that promotes boardroom diversity. Marry has repeatedly been named as one of the most influential people in the Netherlands by de Volkskrant.

Leading Dutch lawyer Marry de Gaay Fortman shares her experiences as a woman at the top of a man's world, and her advice on how to make connections in order to be more successful, decisive and innovative.

In this book, Marry warns us not to 'drown a dead duck'. In other words: don't waste energy on a negative situation. Drawing on her time in boardrooms and courtrooms, Marry describes with panache how she has learned to avoid 'dead ducks' by learning the art of gentle effectiveness.

Hers is a personal story that will inspire any reader who is reaching for their professional goals.
